Social Issues

Social issues are problems that affect many people within a society, but are looked down upon by that society. There are many examples of these, but some sample social issues include: domestic violence, addiction, and poverty. Start by researching the main topic, ask yourself: What is domestic violence? What is addiction? What is poverty? What causes these problems and how can we solve them. Social issues are hard to solve, as they are often issues that happen frequently in a society, but are ones which people find too uncomfortable to talk about. What are social issues in the UAE and how is the UAE working to solve these problems? Who is involved? Find out how common these issues are in this country and then compare them to other countries. Are these problems more or less common here? Look at government initiatives and organizations dedicated to solving social issues in the UAE. Examples of these initiatives and organizations include (but there are many more):

- UAE Interact
- The Dubai Foundation for Women and Children
- National Rehabilitation Centre
- United Nations Development Programme
